Columbia Hospitality to manage condo

Columbia Hospitality announced that it will manage and operate the 250-unit, 33-story Cosmopolitan condominium tower, which was completed circa 2007 at 819 Virginia St. CEO John Oppenheimer said in a statement, "We've seen such growth in the Denny Triangle area, resulting from major tech companies expanding their operations, we're excited to manage this luxury building in the heart of it all." The building's developer was a venture of Continental Properties and a real estate arm of Deutsche Bank. Continental originally began planning the project, then called Century Tower, circa 2000 in a partnership with Bentall Mithun designed the tower, and Mortenson built it.
